“A LOOK INTO THE WORLD OF THE HOME THEATER PC”

Presented
by Russ Suter

As computers become able to do more and more, the line between personal computer and home theater has blurred into obscurity. As they sit in front of their monitor and type letters, browse web sites, or play solitaire, people are unaware of the untapped potential of the little box humming quietly at their feet.

Do you have a digital camera? Learn how to turn those photos into a video slideshow instantly.

Do you LOVE music? You'll never use your CD carousel again once you learn how you can access your entire music library without ever touching another CD.

Did you miss your favorite TV show because you forgot to put a tape in your VCR? Never again when your computer will faithfully record all your favorite TV shows for you so you can watch them whenever you like. You could even pause a live TV show when the phone rings right in the middle of your favorite program. It's not as far-fetched, as difficult, or as expensive as you might think to make your computer do all this and even more.

Join us as Russ Suter, computer programmer and Digital Camera & Recorder manager for Circuit City, El Toro Road, presents a glimpse into the true power of the personal computer as a complete home entertainment system.
