

LYDIA SAVEDOFF

. . . Died suddenly at home on March 27, 2006 at the age of 87. She received her undergrad degree from Hunter College and her PHD in Chemistry from Columbia University.

She began her teaching career as professor of chemistry at Washington State University and then at Gonzaga State University before moving to California State University Northridge in 1959. Upon retirement in 1990 she came to LWV where she became active in the LWVPC Club as a supervisor in the workshop and, for many years, secretary of the Club.

She will be sorely missed.
