This Information Has The Green Light from SNOPEs

DO NOT OPEN THIS SITE!

There is an email going around with the subject "New Graphics Site". If you get an email with that in the subject line delete it quickly and DO NOT OPEN IT! This is a new virus.

"New Graphic Site" is a mass-mail worm written in JavaScript that takes advantage of a vulnerability in Yahoo! Mail, exploiting a hole that allows scripts embedded in HTML-based e-mail messages to execute via recipients' browsers.

Arriving as an e-mail message with a subject line of "New Graphic Site," the worm targets e-mail addresses in the yahoo.com and yahogroups.com domains, replicates by running a script that sends copies of itself to similar addresses harvested from infected users' Yahoo! Mail folders, and sends those harvested addresses to a collecting remote server (www.av3.net)

Symantec has rated this worm a Level 2 threat (Level 1 is the least harmful ranking) and has noted (despite the wording of the warning quoted above) that the worm does not appear to be spreading widely. Users of the new Beta version of Yahoo! Mail have not been affected by this worm so far.

Additional information on this worm can be found on the Symantec website.

BEWARE THIS NEW GOOGLE FEATURE!

www.google.com

Type your home telephone number into Google's search bar & click the search button . . .

MapQuest returns with a physical location of your phone number.

People could use this feature to locate your home address, and receive explicit directions on how to get there from anywhere in the country.

You can remove your name off this database

To do this: Type in your full phone number — using dashes — like this: 555-123-4567.

If your number appears in the mapping database, an icon resembling a telephone will appear to left of the entry on the results page.

Click on this icon and it will take you to a page containing a description of the service, and a link to request your number be removed!

Recheck your phone # to be sure it has been removed. Also, if you have children, please check their phone # too!

This is another example of invasion of privacy, isn't it?
